Zelpha Hutton

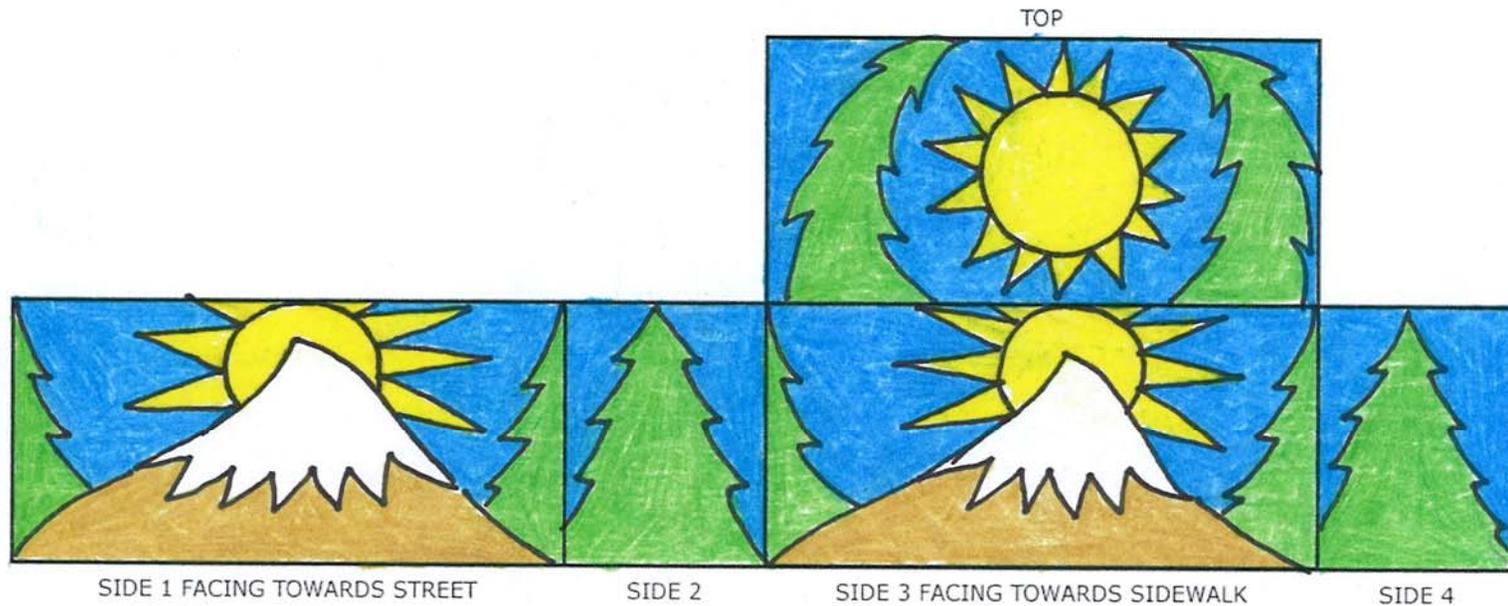

“I believe the image of local Ashlanders, with their dogs and bicycles enjoying the pleasures of our small shops adds considerably to the charm of our town.”

Mountains and Trees

Pokey McFarland

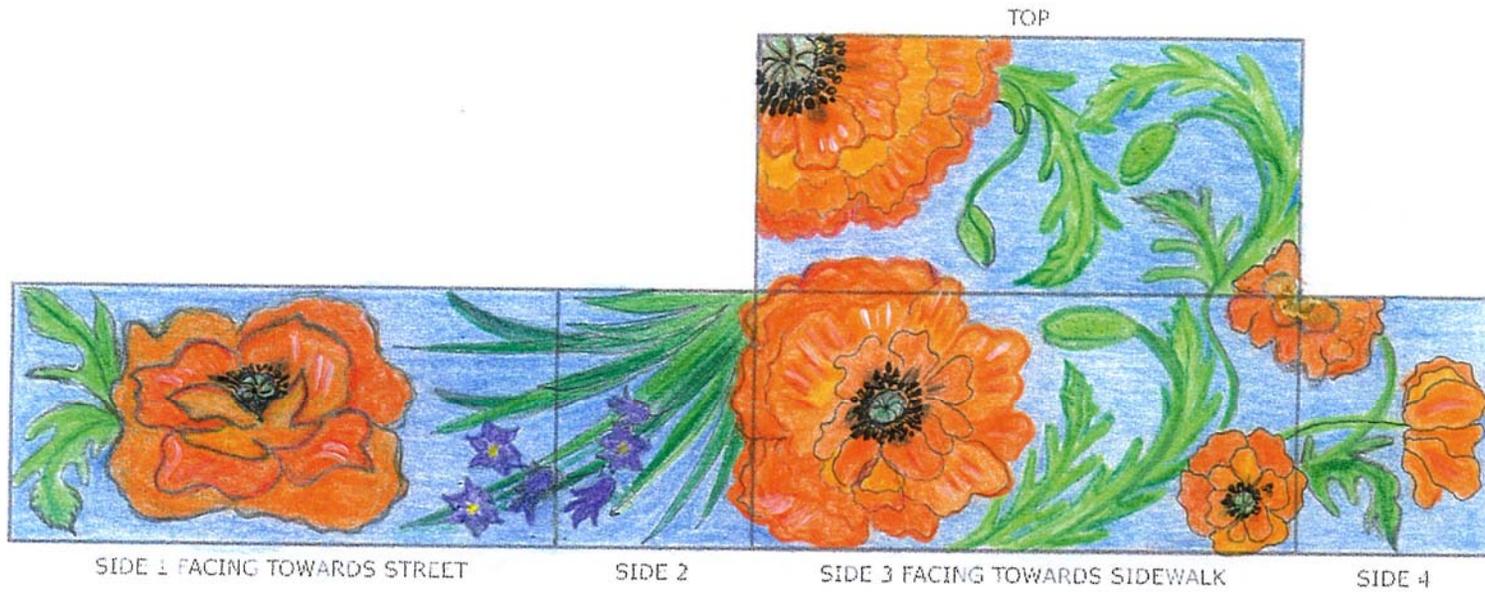

“I feel that Ashland is a unique area, naturally beautiful and hidden in among mountains and forests. I feel many come here for that isolated feeling. The natural beauty here is one of a kind, wonderful! When I reflect on Ashland, I think mountains, trees, rivers, natures’ beauty...”

“Nature provides an infinite source of inspiration for me. The lush greenery we enjoy in Ashland is due to its abundant rainfall and local vineyards contribute to the

Return of the Swans

Ann DiSalvo

“These utility boxes are turning into mirrors of the past and the present state of Ashland's culture. My box reflects a time when there were swans in Lithia Park. Much earlier there was a petting zoo, but the swans were at large in the ponds. The lower duck pond was a favorite place because of the swans. The ducks and swans outlasted the zoo by many decades, and now it has been more than ten years since the swans were

Activities

Judy Bryant

“When I was giving thought to a design for Reflections of Ashland I kept thinking of all the activities we as locals get to enjoy right outside our front doors any day of the

Rainbow Waters

Lillian Thomas

“When I think of Ashland I am reminded of its unique beauty, as shown in the water. I also think of its fields, rolling mountains and clear, starry nights. All of these are depicted here.”

Duck Pond

Lillian Thomas

(alternate)

“I live nearby the duck pond, and it is my favorite place in Ashland. Ducks are also my favorite animals, and their joyful habits would make a wonderful painting.”
