I prefer a combination of the restoration and replacement where the opportunity exists in order to preserve the fountain's original design while at the same time being mindful of budgeting constraints and overall long-term durability of the fountain as it endures drastic fluctuating temperatures.

I am very disturbed that this is presented to me as a done deal: That you have already decided that we the City will spend $500 000 on saving the fountain. That we citizens have no say in that. Given that I was given only two choices...(Restore OR Replace.... Each at an estimated $500 000K) I would lean toward Replace. However it is difficult for me to believe that it has to cost half a million dollars for either project. So my real very strong recommendation is that there be OTHER options: Do more diligence in getting some more competitive bids; and if bids can not be found down below $250 000K that a third choice be made: Take it down and replace it with some or less cost feature. Examples? A small greenhouse of subtropical plants (surely less than half a million)? A plain old flowerbed with some benches? A goldfish or lily pond? Or? I do like the fountain... and understand its long history and am not insensitive to its esthetic and even cultural importance and would miss it if gone. But a taxpayer and generally concerned citizen when I am aware of urgent needs in our city.(a generally tight financial picture City offices understaffed and in need of upgrades etc etc.) I am appalled at the apparent decision to spend half a million dollars on this project. If it proceeds it will reinforce my impression that's been increasing over the last 15 years that our City government is being run irresponsibly with misplaced priorities. Surely there are better places to spend half a million dollars ... or just not spend it. I hope you will seriously reconsider this..

Given the choices offered I first choose 'restore' because 1) I don't want the fountain moved from it's location nor stored inside (whatever that might mean) and 2) last I checked the fountain itself appeared in good condition. Only the pedestal base and the water base enclosure were in seriously poor condition. If the fountain itself needs serious restoration then I support replacement without changing the location.

I'm the son of John Fregonese the city planner who lead the restoration back in the 1980's. During that restoration he went to great lengths to locate the marble quarry in Italy that the original fountain was constructed out of. If he were still alive today he would not have anything less than the original marble used for a second restoration. My understanding from the report is that the cost is nearly the same weather its replaced with granite or marble. Please don't consider using anything other than the original marble for this project.

The deterioration of Perozzi Fountain is the most egregious lapse in maintenance currently facing Ashland Parks. It's embarrassing and irresponsible that the restoration of the crumbling cement perimeter and pillars of the fountain have been delayed for decades especially when the Parks and Rec Commission has collected money to do this for years. Their estimates for repair have always been ridiculously high. There are people in town who would love to donate money to get the fountain repaired but they won't because they don't trust the Parks and Rec Commission to do it any time during their lifetimes! Get that fountain repaired! If the current people in charge of it can't get it done put me in charge.

APRC's idea of replacing the fountain and storing it inside for public viewing is a stupid idea. The fountain is a key element of Lithia Park's grandeur and its history. The parks department should have focused on the fountain's restoration years ago rather than spending so much time energy and money on the director's single-minded mission of doing the bidding of a large private donor to rebuild the (magnificent) Japanese Garden. Under the APRC's proposal would the new rebuilt fountain also be behind locked doors during certain times of the day? APRC owes it to the people of Ashland the original donors and those many Ashlanders and others who sacrificed to restore it once before to fully restore again this lovely installation and then maintain it. My 2 cents...

How the fountain got into this state of disrepair speaks very badly to the leadership of the APRD -- surely if this was an ongoing yearly line item maintenance project in their non-supervised budget the fountain wouldn't be in this sad condition. Maybe the current APRD leadership isn't well suited to their job. It's also interesting how this and other projects are suddenly appearing AFTER the election.

The historic fountain is an awesome touchstone (literally) for locals and for visitors who crave a walk up there to imbibe in the renaissance vibes of the thing. I cannot stand that it's been left in disrepair and directly blame poor leadership and foresight in the continual maintenance of the thing. Growing up in the 90's I remember it as a working feature of the park rather than the sad eyesore it has become. I commend the commission and City for prioritizing its repair or replacement. But with that said the APRC's site doesn't fill in enough blanks for me. Does option number two include the re-building of the stairs and landing? Or are we talking $0.5M for just a new fountain? If so you're wasting money. If the whole thing is replaced that doesn't seem totally out of line considering that cities pay double what any other consumer pays. So some clarity on those bullet points would be good!! In the end my preference as a taxpayer and lifelong Ashland resident would be to replace it with something similar. I would imagine that a bronze version would be lovely but the striking white marble is unique for a public fountain and visually appealing. I imagine that bronze or another metal would be much more durable. I'm not a particularly romantic tax payer. I could also imagine a feature that doesn't necessarily resemble the current fountain in form but still would draw people up there to enjoy the perspective on the park and provide memories for generations. I am sure many folks would throw a huge fit if it wasn't the same form or function (fountain) but it would be an interesting thought experiment to consider other options rather than a fountain which seems fraught considering Lithia Park is barely maintained as-is. The new Japanese garden seems like an error in judgement that will cost the rest of the park dearly for a very long time.

Comments:

Thank you for considering public opinion in this process. Asking is nice. Compiling the answers PUBLICLY is also important to the process so we know you're actually listening. Please ensure us taxpayers and stakeholders that enjoy the park regularly that our input is taken into consideration by publicizing the results of this form!

Please restore the fountain. The original is worth repairing and preserving it's a very special part of the park beloved by many. Having travelled all over this country even more is it apparent Ashland is a unique town and all of its historic value is worth keeping when possible. I know it's not Notre Dame or the Mona Lisa but beautiful pieces of history are kept when possible not replaced. Same principle at least applies here in my opinion. That fountain is personally my favorite part of the park other than the nature of the park itself. As far as this beautiful park we all enjoy - on another note the bathrooms are hardly priceless but they are very necessary and the one by the playground is almost always uncared for dirty and the air dryer needs repair. They need more cleaning attention than they get by a long shot. Reflects so badly on our lovely park that the bathroom used most is just awful.

A more durable material that will allow for the fountain to handle the elements better. I really hope the stairs will be fixed as well. I often feel like the water is off but have heard it's partly due to people putting bubbles/soap in there. A security camera or something to monitor the area and allow for the water to run more often would make sense to add. It's a historic place in our town.

I believe that the physical fountain that sits on top of the base should not be replaced but restored. It is an important artifact. The base waterpool and surrounding features I do not have an opinion except to retain the vintage look matching and supporting the fountain in properly fashioned materials. Thank you for reading. I love Ashland for many reasons. I'd argue that we have a better use for $1/2 million dollars. I'd suggest that schools or housing would be a better use of the money. Let the fountain degrade in its natural state. Look at ancient architecture around the world in many cases it is degrading in its natural state and people still come to visit. Thank you for asking for public opinion and I hope my comments are not too direct.

There doesn't seem to be an option to just replace materials AND LEAVE IT in its current location which is my first choice. The current location overlooking the park and connected with stairs on either side to reach the fountain is one of its greatest appeal. Restoring to match current marble isn't a priority for me but keeping it in its current location is. It's the ambience of the whole experience that makes it so valuable. Thank you for your efforts to maintain Ashland charm.

Replicate the fountain in size design and function with new materials which could be marble bronze or another material that will hold up to the elements better than the current marble. I do not support removing it from its current location as that location has served the photographic needs for weddings etc for many years. Families wanting to continue taking photos by this fountain would appreciate it being in the same place for continuity across the generations.

I grew up in Ashland and walked by that fountain when I graduated from high school in the 90's. I have noticed the fountain falling apart. I support restoring it because it is less wasteful and more authentic. After all they haven't replaced the Parthenon or Roman Colosseum. Its age is part of its story. It would be great if it could keep its historic character and continue to provide peaceful memories for Ashland residents and visitors.

I've lived here for 27 years now. The problems with this fountain have gone on and on and on over that time and perhaps before. Repairs have been done previously and our tax dollars spent for them. I as a tax paying homeowner am weary of hearing about this issue. Take it down. Replace it with a replica. But for $500 000 maybe just convert that area into a green space or something easier to maintain.

The one piece of comparative information that would be particularly helpful is a comparison of the long term maintenance costs of the two fountain options. This is a huge expenditure for something that is sure to need major funds again in the future. I was here for the last fountain redo at $250 000 or so and it didn't even get us good steps. How about we get a quote on the steps and save the fountain restoration for a time when we have the money.

Thruout Europe fountains are constantly restored. None of it does any good if it is not maintained however. My fear of a replacement is that it will gradually go down hill because we don't maintain new things. Much of the current state of things is of course environment but because repairs were not done on a regular schedule the damage has become in a sense cancerous. The concrete veneer work and crack repair is not rocket science. You don't need matching marble to create fill for the missing edging. There are many treatments that will insure longevity and appropriate appearance of the current fountain.

The design looks best and keeps its historic quality in marble. For that reason I vote for restoration but if you were to replace you should replace in marble to make it look as similar to the original as possible. Is the Perozzi Fountain federally protected by being on the National Historic Preservation list of historic places? If it is on the list it must be preserved and restored. I very much support having the fountain maintained in its current location. It's difficult to know whether restoration or a reproduction would be the most cost-effective though maintenance of the original would probably make it more expensive. The fountain was purchased by Mr. Perozzi at the 1906 (I'm not sure about the date) World's Fair in San Francisco and gifted to the city. The fountain is an essential element of Lithia Park and must be retained.

Since the cost of replacing it is similar to repairing it it would make sense that the fountain should be replaced (with a fountain as close as possible to the original) that will last longer than repairing it. But what do you mean by "and stored inside for public viewing"? Do you mean that the new fountain would be enclosed in a weather proof building? Or do you mean that the old fountain would be stored indoors somewhere for public viewing and a new one would be built in its place?

Given the fact that we as society tend not to be sympathetic to restoring historic features in our communities I am convinced that we need to preserve what we have. Many European cities have fountains that also suffer from the effects of exposure. They chose to preserve the history. Lets do that and treat this fountain as the treasure that it is. Placing the fountain inside as a museum piece is a stupid idea.

It would be more cost-effective for the fountain to be replaced. I feel that the fountain is a known landmark in the community and it would be a shame to take it down and store it somewhere or put it in a museum. Fixing the current fountain will only leave the burden of fix it again for future generations. Again replacing it with something that has long-standing durability is a much more cost effective use of money.

I think it is important to return the fountain to like new condition. The extent of the damages are so great that it doesn't make sense to repair. While using the same marble is historic and prettier it also much more expensive is subject to wear weathering and vandalism at a higher rate thus maintenance over time would be much higher. I think replacing it with more durable materials is the right way to go. I also think that as many of the architectural details and decorative details should be preserved in the design as much as is practicable. I really appreciate the work and efforts of those people who have brought this project to the point it is. Nothing in Ashland is easy.

as lovely and historic as it is I think it will get vandalized again quickly and it is not with that much money to restore or replace and it will continue to need maintenance. storing it like holding on to an old love. My suggestion is to let go and spend that money and commission an Oregon artist to design a suitable more contemporary sculpture or fountain and benches for to serve the same function. This option will generate opportunity for artists to make a little money and create something new that our younger generation can relate to and get the community involved and breathe life into new art. another option is to plant a historic tree. some native plant and a pollinator garden and some benches. The reason I am saying this is that I am in the process of letting go of some very special things. I have been going through 70 years of keep sakes art collections paintings and inherited valuables. Sometimes we just have to weigh our options and let go of somethings. I think this is one of those special items that we can keep a picture of it and keep it in the history books. Thank for asking.

The fountain is nice but not worth the 500k price tag in my opinion. I would much rather the money go towards fixing the upper duck pond. That is a huge eye sore for the park and needs repair much more badly. Perhaps put 50-100k towards a more simple fountain where the butler fountain is and put the other 400k towards truly solving the scum holding tank that the upper duck pond has become. The upper pond used to be so beautiful and it should be restored. It gets way more visitors. Thanks for your consideration.

The original marble is either very poor quality or not suitable for the local environment. I remember that it has been restored before and it does not seem to have been the appropriate decision given that it has deteriorated so much and it seems so rapidly. There is no point in repeating that option only to have it need renovation again. The price seems exorbitant!! I certainly hope that the materials used to create a replica are better able to stand up to the environment. Sometimes we have to part with relics from the past...

Comments:

I am providing more detailed comments. Please consider this as my comment on this issue rather than the earlier submission. The Ashland Parks and Recreation Commission (APRC) is requesting comments from the public on the options to address the current deterioration of the Butler-Perozzi Fountain in Lithia Park. Architectural Resources Group a consultant on historic preservation prepared a report dated July 26 2022 (rev'd Oct. 5 2022) outlining its recommendations. APRC incorrectly claims that the consulting firm offered the following 2 options in their report: 1. Restore/Repair the Fountain on

Site: a. Honor the historic nature of the fountain by restoring the portions of the fountain that are failing and replacing missing and crumbling pieces of marble with matching marble. b. Repair all concrete mechanical and plumbing fixtures with new components. c. Generally keep the fountain the same with focused improvements to the fountain to improve the overall look and function of the Fountain – similar to plastic surgery. 2. Remove and Replace the Fountain with a Replica: a. Replicate the fountain in size design and function with new materials which could be marble bronze or another material that will hold up to the elements better than the current marble. b. Remove the existing Fountain and explore options for relocating the historic Fountain to an undetermined location where it can still be on display but protected from the elements. However I did not see any mention of Option 2 when I read the report. (I've included the link to the report below). Option 2 remove and replace the fountain with a replica in a possible new location may be what APRC wants but it is not what the historic preservation firm recommended. I appreciate the opportunity to comment and I wish others in the community had the same opportunity because Lithia Park including the Perozzi Fountain is such a beautiful part of history that should be preserved. As the consulting firm stated: "The goal of this assessment was to document the current condition of the fountain and the terrace where it sits and provide repair and upgrade recommendations to return the fountain and terrace to its former glory as a beloved piece of the landscape at Lithia Park." See p. 1 of the report. Therefore removing the fountain and replicating it in another location is not even close to being factually correct and it is fairly cringe-worthy to represent such to the citizens of Ashland. What the report actually recommends is replacement of elements or components of the fountain not replacement of the fountain with a replica. For example page 19 of the report states "The pedestal supporting the upper bowl is in poor condition and should be replaced...As these elements are replacements they should be replaced in kind." Note the report refers to elements of the fountain. The report also states that "The lower pool and outer rim of the fountain pool should be demolished and replaced." Again the recommendation is to replace an element of the fountain the lower pool not to demolish the whole fountain to install a replica. There is a section in the report entitled "Discussion: Rehabilitation vs. Replacement." However if you actually read the section it is discussing rehabilitation of parts of the fountain versus replacement of parts of the fountain not replacement of the whole fountain with more durable materials or removal and replacement of the fountain to a new location. For example page 23 states "Previous discussions about the fountain have included the possibility of replacement of the marble components in a more durable material such as granite (since the basin and mechanical systems will be replaced in their entirety the only element that would be considered rehabilitated would be the central tiered element). Note again it says "components." The report continues "When considering rehabilitation verses replacement it is important to understand how each option will extend the life of the fountain and affect the historical significance of the fountain." Thus the recommendation for replacement only extended to components not the entire fountain. In summary I think that including option 2 APRC either: 1) only read the headlines in the report 2) did not understand the report or 3) simply provided a recommendation that they wanted contrary to the standards of the Secretary of the Interior for the treatment of historic properties and consultant's recommendations. The Butler-Perozzi Fountain is a contributing element to the historical district of Ashland Park which is listed on the National Register of Historic Properties. I believe that the public should be provided notice of APRC's intent to possibly tear down the fountain and move a replica to another location. The public should also be properly advised of the recommendations of the consultant. I only found out about this issue because I personally requested the City to send me notice of events. Other citizens of Ashland have not been given any notice that I am aware of that the Perozzi fountain may be destroyed and replicated in another location. Moreover even if proper notice is provided to the citizens APRC should not misrepresent the recommendations of the consultants. I strongly urge APRC to follow the recommendations of the consultant and repair the fountain in place. Link to APRC's post on the City

I noticed that APCR changed the words on their comment form since yesterday to delete the words "and stored inside for public viewing." The words on the comment form now state: "Do you prefer that the Butler Perozzi Fountain is restored replaced with a more durable material"

Replicas are replicas short and simple. History is what creates the value and creates a bond and understanding of those that came before us. Restoration and implementation of a long term PREVENTATIVE MAINTENANCE program would allow current and future generations to experience the original fountain as it was constructed so many years ago. Thank you for your consideration!

The Fountain should be Replaced. It wasn't built very well in the first place and we have better techniques these days. I know we can make it just as beautiful as it was in the past. It MUST BE REPLACED. I grew in Ashland and have enjoyed that feature of Lithia Park all my 44 years of existence. Many Many friends have been married there proposed marriage there and have spent many late nights walking through it. Thank you

A half a million dollars for the restoration of this fountain is fiscally irresponsible when other assets of the city parks that are frequented and utilized more often are being neglected and/or mismanaged. The space occupied by the fountain could be rehabilitated with new plantings seating and a memorial plaque at a fraction of the projected restoration costs. Another option should be seeking private donations to fund the fountain restoration allowing parks and rec funds to be utilized appropriately in the greater public interest.

Report was well done. Very informative.

Comments:

Location is good. Desire to keep it on site with the same stair and general surrounding configuration. Replacing with more durable material is ok but marble preferred for historic sense and beauty. If replaced then bronze would be preferred to granite. Site and material choice would be better as separate questions. Consider adding a cover to help protect from the elements. Something aesthetically appropriate to the fountain design and era it was built. Perhaps some of the added cost for a cover would be offset by decreased maintenance over time and longevity.

I do think the fountain should be replaced but it doesn't need to be a replica or made out of any fancy material.

Comments:

The old fountain should be removed. The base repaired. The replacement doesn't need to be a replica. It can just be a nice concrete fountain or a nice piece of art. Just a nice statue would be less expensive. The total budget for this project should not be more than $50 000. The other $450 000 could be spent on many more useful projects.

After reviewing the report I believe restoring the historic fountain in marble would be the best option although it appears that elements that were originally in marble have already been replaced - the top piece now in metal. It appears in the report that most of the restoration cost is in concrete replacement not marble to granite replacement. I would also suggest installing a decorative metal fence around the area that could be closed at night to protect against vandalism.

I'm a local historian writer Ashland resident and lover of our beautiful city. As someone who deeply appreciates Ashland history I urge APRC to fully repair and restore the Butler Perozzi Fountain to its former glory. It's an iconic symbol not only of Lithia Park but of the city itself. If you climb its marble stairs you will see the artistic vision and quality craftsmanship for yourself. It's easy to understand why it was selected for the 1915 Pan-Pacific International Exhibition. The Butler Perozzi Fountain was gifted to Ashland by two prominent city leaders each of whom left their own an indelible mark on the place they called home. We've been lucky to have it here for the past 107 years. Ashland is known for Lithia Park our historic downtown Carnegie Library and beautiful turn of the century homes. These features have helped make us a destination even for those who don't come for OSF. We have a special small-town charm not often found these days and the emphasis placed on respecting and preserving our history is one reason why. Let's not let the Butler Perozzi Fountain sink into further decline. A replica doesn't have the same kind of gravitas as the original and I believe it's well worth the funds to restore it. Thank you.

Let's please invest our money wisely. Even a $500 000 price tag has me thinking just take it out and put that money into other things. I do understand tranquility but when we're suffering from so many health ailments as a people prioritizing access to nature seems so logical. I know I may be a minority but I've never understood building a $500 000 fountain over a trail to a waterfall (hopefully you understand my point). Let's create more access to what is surrounding us instead of building unnecessary "stuff".

I think it should just be removed altogether and replaced with more native plants or perhaps a smaller birdbath-type structure for the wildlife to enjoy. Both proposals for either restoration or replacement with a replica are unnecessarily expensive. The fountain is an eyesore poorly maintained and should be replaced by something better integrated into the surrounding natural landscape.

This is Historical Preservation at its core. I have lived in Ashland for 30yrs my children were born and raised here. Removing or replacing would be devastating. As I am an Archaeologist preserving this iconic piece of history is the ONLY solution to the problem at hand. We must save it it's a part of Ashland and Lithia Parks character anything less would be a travesty. Period. Point. Blank.

As a lifelong resident of Medford who spent a lot of time in Lithia Park growing up I very much appreciate the efforts that go into maintaining and updating the park. I also think it is important to both preserve our history and mind the sustainability of our decisions. Retiring the original vulnerable fountain to someplace sheltered while replacing it to preserve its spirit in place is the option that will do both.

Please restore the fountain but perhaps not as a fountain but as a sculpture. The pool beneath the fountain can be planted with meaningful herbs or ornamentals. The fountain can still stand and remain a lovely background for photos. The benches and lampposts around can be cleaned and kept in good condition so people can enjoy sitting.

I lived on granite street during the 1980's and my brothers and I would visit this fountain almost every day. Our landlord at the time just happened to be Jeffery Bernard, whom amongst being an influential part of who I am today, he also helped with the restoration of the marble pieces of the fountain. I remember being 9 years old and watching him carve these once beautiful sculptures in his shop for hours. To remove it or replace it would forever take away part of the history of Ashland, the Lithia Park, and also a piece of Jeffery's legacy. I would hope that our community feels the same and all it would take is a donation of $23 per citizen or $94 per family of 4. But I'm also confident that the more prominent families in our beautiful community would be more than willing to give more than that to a great cause as this one is. I know I will. Sincerely, Arlo Wand

This fountain is a part of the heart and soul of Ashland. I was born in Ashland and spent most of my life living there. I still live in the valley and visit the fountain often even though it is not running. To remove this amazing piece of history would be devastating to the community. Generations of Ashland families have been photographed in front of the fountain for special occasions (myself included) from ballet and concerts in the park at the bandshell to proms to graduations to weddings. Some of my most fond memories involve this amazing backdrop. (my favorite wedding photos were taking here as well as many friends and other brides I know.) The fountain is woven into the lives of thousands of Ashland residents and natives. Please restore this beautiful piece of Ashland history. I think many would want that as opposed to removing and replacing it.

This is a hallmark of Lithia Park and Ashland. City planner & visionary John Fregonese was instrumental in the first restoration many years ago. He was also instrumental in the new marble fountain installed in front of the Black Swan Theatre which was removed entirely (!) when pranksters added bubbles. Fountains provide needed solace in cityscapes and are omnipresent in civilized cities in Europe South America Asia Africa and the US. Losing our last fountain would be a dire wound for Ashland. Other cities around the world can maintain their fountains often for centuries. We must do the same.

I think the project is under consideration because we want to preserve a piece of history. Restoration accomplishes that. Replacement does not - it would preserve an idea of the history vice the And a wild idea: regardless of which option is chosen could the city (working through the Ashland School District) reach out to the thousands of Ashland High School graduates who have had their graduation day pictures taken on the steps? Remind them of the opportunity to preserve the site of one of their life milestones and ask for contributions? It could result in many small contributions maybe a few larger ones and it would result in more awareness of the challenge. Good luck!

What do you mean by "replaced with a more durable material"? What durable material are you considering? Would that material allow you to restore the fountain so that its appearance would not be significantly altered? How are you attempting to get the word out to Ashlanders that you're having this comments period? I hope you will make a serious effort to reach as many Ashlanders as possible to accurately assess their opinions on this subject.

I've lived in Ashland since 1976. The Butler Perozzi Fountain has been the center beating heart of Lithia Park for many many years. I have so many memories of graduations prom photos birthday parties photo shoots and just hanging out by the fountain. The stairs and the fountain are an indispensable part of Lithia Park and of Ashland--its history its culture and its essence. I've watched earlier attempts to repair and save the fountain and now we must press on and do that again. I'm not sure what the Parks and Recreation folks mean by "replace with a more durable material." If there is some more durable material that could be used while strictly preserving the fountain's original design and aesthetics then that would possibly be a good thing. But to destroy the fountain (and its surrounding stairs etc.) would be a travesty. I truly hope you decide to save this treasure. Thank you.

The Butler-Perozzi fountain was a gift to the city from two of Ashland's early residents. They purchased it from the World's Fair in San Francisco. They paid to have it shipped and installed in Lithia Park. It was neglected and so overgrown at one point that it could not be seen from Winburn Way. I was so happy when it was restored back to it's former beauty. It deserves to be restored and repaired again and remain where it was originally placed. To do other wise would be a travesty and a tragedy. Add security cameras to discourage vandalism. This new proposal is reminiscent of the time in the late 60's early 70's when some of the less enlightened members of the community wanted to tear down the old buildings in downtown Ashland and replace them with ones similar to the 1st Interstate (now Wells Fargo) bank building. What a travesty that would have been! Or worse yet it harks back to when the head on the Lincoln statue was replaced with one that was way out of proportion to the body a well meaning but poorly executed project .

I grew up in Ashland. The Perozzi Fountain is an iconic part of Ashlands history. We as a society should cherish our historic symbols embrace their beauty and protect them from modernization. If there were a fundraiser of a "go fund me" type format our community present and past would be more than willing to contribute in order to preserve this beautiful piece of Ashlands legacy. Please consider this before destroying. Ashland alumni should be given that opportunity.

I lived my entire life in Ashland up until four years ago as I relocated for my family (my husband works for the state of California). I went to The Learning Tree (preschool) where we learned about the trees the creek and visited the Butler-Perozzi Fountain on many visits to Lithia Park. I went to Walker School where my 4th & 5th grade teacher Ted Holden taught us the importance of the environment and of human history - he taught us to write poetry on both as we listened to Lithia Creek and the bubbling of the Butler-Perrozi Fountain. I graduated from Ashland High School and on the evening of my senior prom (before I was crowned prom queen!) all of my girlfriends and our dates took photos at the Butler-Perozzi Fountain. Many years later during a global pandemic and with the help of Ashland Parks - my husband and I said our vows and we're married there. When we found out we were pregnant this is where our maternity photos were taken. After my daughter was born every time we visit Ashland we go there and take our family photos here. This fountain all though expensive although replicable - is a part of who I am. If I had the money I'd donate it. If I knew the right people I'd get the word out. If I knew how I'd save it myself so generations to come can grow and love along side this Ashland landmark as I have as so many others have. If there is anyway I can help the community save it I'm here. Thank you for your time.

The fountain is an icon for the city and has been for a long time. History is important in Ashland even to the city and city planning. Although I live just outside city limits I am an incorporated citizen for the last 30+ years. The city requires homes to abide by certain historic guidelines within city limits. That's why I think its important to lead by example and restore the fountain rather than replace or demolish it. Also citizens are a bit bristled from previous restoration projects (plaza). It may even be a path of lesser conflict to have the fountain restored rather than enter an endless feedback loop of input and conflict that comes with a subjective remodel/replacement.

Lithia Park is our community jewel. The Butler Perozzi Fountain is very much apart of that which makes our park so special. Sadly the fountain has been neglected for years. For me that is truly a reflection on the City of Ashland leadership. It feels as if the focus is more on creating new parks rather than caring for that which we already have and cherish. Restoring and maintaining the fountain feels more respectful to the history of Lithia Park. Thank you Nicola Stroo

Please restore this beautiful historic feature of our park. This fountain is embedded in the experiences of generations of Ashlanders and should be restored and maintained. One of my most enduring memories of elementary school was a class project on the history of the park when I had the opportunity as a 3rd grader to interview Jeffrey Bernard while he was in the process of restoring the fountain. My classmates and I learned so much from that experience and it instilled such an appreciation for the history and artistry of the fountain. It's held a special place in my heart for as long as I can remember as I'm sure it has for so many children who grew up here. John Fregonese (who was a kind and patient neighbor when I was a kid) had the foresight and vision to bring the fountain back to its original condition so we were all able to enjoy it for the ensuing years. I would love to see it restored again for the next generations of Ashlanders.

To replace it would be nothing more than a disgrace & smear on the Parks department little remaining reputation. That is not even touching on the city's historical significance which I know you are all aware of. Perhaps continued maintenance would prevent the high restoration bill y'all are clutching your pearls about eh? Try that approach before it nearly crumbles to the point of no return A THIRD TIME. That bill is on your refusal to deal with the issue before it got to this point again. RESTORE the disgraceful damage you've let accumulate and don't cut costs where you deem fit. This shouldn't even be a question.

Restore or replace. Please don't get rid of it entirely. If replaced the same look or type of look. It's a beautiful elegant photo backdrop. Many people have gotten engaged there done maternity shoots prom shoots you name it. I was proposed to there myself. It's just a very romantic place even in disrepair. I can't imagine the park without it.

Comments:

It's a really special place and there's no reason to not at least try to fundraise to save it. Maybe some student at SOU could take it on as a senior project. Just please try to find a way to save it. Ashland is a city with a lot of wealthy residents and a lot of them care about the park. If ever there were an opportune place for this kind of fundraiser it would be Ashland. It would be a shame to not even try.

The original should be moved to an area where the public can visit it and appreciate its history and beauty - not necessarily within the park but somewhere protected. Rather than build a replica why not create something that honors the Native American history of Ashland - for 10 000 years this land was cared for and enjoyed by Native Americans but with colonization things got ugly fast..... I believe the original name of Ashland translates to "Where the Crows Light" - it would be nice to see this reflected somewhere in Ashland (maybe in the Plaza instead of the statue of the person with a rifle?? - which could also be moved somewhere protected).

I like the idea of replacement over restoration given that the fountain seems as much symbolic as historic. However what isn't in the report is the funding for this work. Is there a funding source? Or even having Parks and Rec properly staffed although I understand the sources of funding for these two budget items are usually different.

I sent money in years ago to have this beautiful Fountain restored. I watched Jeffrey Bernard carve the new bowls he and John Fregonese had sent over from Italy. I think the carved base sculpture below the bowls should be replaced with a more durable marble and the existing bowls added above it. The whole pool base should be replaced with a more durable material. The carved base was in bad shape when Jeff repaired it so I can see that it won't last a lot longer and there's not enough marble left to repair the fine edges of the designs. He spent months restoring the original design. For the record I got married in front of the Fountain and it will always be special to me. I'm glad Jeff didn't have to watch the Parks dept let it degrade over the years. It's a travesty.

Initially I preferred the fountain to be restored however considering the maintenance costs for the future with this choice perhaps replaced with more durable material may be more efficient. I would want to know with what kind of materials it would be replaced with in hopes that it would be a very close match to the existing and historically accurate.

Comments:

I was born in 1972 in Ashland and raised there. I've had graduation pictures at that fountain and when married at the bandshell in 1993 also had many many pictures at that fountain. In addition to those wonderful memories my children and I have been there so I could share the history of it with them I have middle school and high school memories of the fountain and it has just "always been there". It would be a historical tragedy to have the fountain removed. The fountain is history for so many of us that grew up in Ashland and treasure the whole area around it as well as Lithia Park itself. Because my parents were raised in Ashland as well this is their history too. Please do not remove it - at the very most please refurbish it properly and with historic accuracy. Thank you April Johnson

Let's follow the advice of the commissioned condition assessment and recommendations report. It recommends replacement of some items and repair of others (e.g. "the lower pedestal should be repaired"). Thus I don't understand why we're being asked to choose EITHER restored or replaced as options not a combination. Was this a mistake? If so I suggest that the survey be corrected - to include an explicit combination option in the pull-down menu - and re-posted. ("Other" instead of "repair & replace" or equivalent will likely artificially skew responses to "repair" or "replace" - no telling which.)

Comments:

Conceptually let's not be sentimental about this gem. It is lovely mainly for what it does less so for the age and/or "originality" of the materials. I suggest that we endeavor to have a lovely fountain in our park for years to come - hopefully even recreating the element of water spouting from the outer rim into the lower pool which provides a lovely and graceful touch - and to pursue this goal through the most practical economically feasible path.

The fountain restoration was taken on by community development director John Fregonese. John also coordinated the restoration of the Community Center which again needs restoration. The restoration marble came from Massa Italy and both Councilor Susan Reed and Planning Commissioner Brent Thompson visited the marble works in 1986. Jeff Bernard finished the marble work needed when the roughly shaped pieces arrived from Italy. A number of concrete people can restore the non marble aspects. It will take aa "head stone " granite or marble worker to do the center pieces which should have been covered each winter. Pity they weren't-----Next time they should be.

I love art and I love history but maybe we as a community could come up with another idea for replacing the fountain. $500 000. would go a long way to replacing our community swimming pool which would be a much more functional project. It could benefit many families by offering a place for children to learn to swim which could potentially save lives. I realize we have been promised to have a new liner put in etc. but these are all temporary fixes. Please consider or ask the community where they would prefer the money to go. Thank you.

Let us preserve and maintain the lovely historic fountain that we already have! (Thanks!)

I think those with the most information knowledge and expertise should make this decision. It's great to get public input but most of the public doesn't know which of these 2 options is best in the long run. Even after reading the report and looking at the conceptual drawings it's still hard to know which option is best.

Comments:

I chaired the Ashland Historic Commission in the 1980s and led the restoration effort in 1985. I'd like to see the fountain fixed and maintained over time. If the current marble cannot withstand our weather conditions and an exact replica can be made I'd support that. If repairing the current fountain gives it the same life as a new fountain I'd be more favorable toward that option. I choose whichever option lasts longest looks authentic is vandal proof cost effective and continues to be a place of beauty in the park.

Because the fountain is both aesthetically and historically significant restoring it is certainly preferable to replacing it. For most people there is a difference between standing before a fountain that really was a part of the Panama-Pacific Exposition and standing before a fountain that simply looks like it. If in the end the city does replace it with a replica I would hope for the original fountain (even if not functional) to remain in a public place here in Ashland rather than being mothballed.

As a city Ashland has been on the edge of fiscal problems for a number of years. To say that it should replace a fountain at the cost of $500 000 seems to be irresponsible. Even though a charitable foundation has agreed to fund a significant part of the cost this money could be spent to feed hungry people and house some of the homeless during these challenging winter months. The fountain should be removed at the minimal cost while maintaining the stairs and path to the upper roadway.

Comments:

Ashland is a unique community in that we receive benefits from our status as a tourist locale -- both financial and quality of life benefits. This fountain is an example of how we as a community must spend money to get money. We must prioritize maintaining and beautifying the spaces that encourage our visitors to continue coming back and bringing their wallets and credit cards with them. This in turn allows us as residents to enjoy more beautiful spaces than most. Had we maintained the fountain more consistently along the way we might have been able to keep it a lower cost but trashing this marvel simply because we were negligent in it's maintenance in the past would be a mistake. I urge us not only to repair this fountain but to prioritize maintaining all our beautiful spaces in order to avoid more costly repairs in the future. As we move forward let's avoid short-term-savings that lead to even larger long-term costs.

Residency Note: I live in Ashland but outside the city limits. However portions of my real estate tax fees include payments for Ashland schools bonds and water shed forestry maintenance. OPTION 3: Remove the Fountain. Lithia Park does not need a fountain. Lithia Park already has 3 water features (natural creek duck pond and Japanese Garden). I don't think a 4th water feature is needed nor prudent considering the half a million price tag plus continued maintenance costs. Replacement with a static non-water feature would be better. (Whatever you decide please use local project management and contractors vs. outsourcing to another Portland company.)

Comments:

Why remove? 1) AGR's assessment and cost ROM for either repair or replacement was a shocker. The labor cost assumptions coupled with the exclusions only added to the shock value. Add another 15-20% for probable overages and surprises now you are well over $500K. 2) This gift appears to have been a philanthropic gesture by the Donors without an agreement by the City to maintain the fountain in perpetuity. Unfortunately the fountain has become a costly repair/replace project with continued maintenance/repair costs. Is that a prudent use of tax payer dollars long term?

I was working for the city at the time that John Fregonese made the first restoration happen. He spent countless hours researching and finding the right people to do the job. The results were spectacular and it was a true small town success story. For many years citizens and visitors have enjoyed the Fountain but we have watched it slowly fall into disrepair. Now is the time to bring it back to its original grandeur for the benefit of future generations. Please RESTORE the Fountain - don't replace it with a replica as that would not be the a reasonable solution. Since the price tag for each option are the same there is no logical reason to not restore the Fountain to its original glory and truly show how Ashland appreciates and celebrates its history. Ideally we could restore this fountain in place and protect it from weathering and public defacement. I fear that this is not feasible in current circumstances.

Comments:

As much as I love this iconic and historic park feature it is clear that it is not able to withstand weathering and exposure to increasingly disrespectful members of the public. We obviously cannot have nice things anymore. It would be nice to replace it with some kind of water feature here another fountain perhaps- one that is more durable. We could look to bigger cities that have similar issues to find out what is most durable as well as beautiful. This is a focal point in the park so we really need to do something here that is equal to the historic fountain. I like the terrace feature and the stairs up to Granite St so please keep that. Please relocate this beautiful park fountain to an indoor/protected location that the public will still be able to access.

will everyone who gave input be made public? If so I hope you'll make an easily accessible link. Thank you

Comments:

Dear APRC Commissioners I'm very glad to see a plan to take care of the Butler-Perozzi Fountain taking shape. Early on in my term on the Public Arts Commission I suggested that we should think about taking care of the pieces already in our collection before acquiring more. The decision to restore or replace won't be an easy one for you to make and I'm grateful you have asked for public input. If costs for either approach are similar then I hope these few points I raise might be helpful to you. 1) Vandalism has been an increasing concern in the pieces we recently saw installed. Both "Velocity" and "Golden Connections" suffered damage almost immediately after they were installed. Would a Bronze replica have a better chance withstanding any attempts? I would think it might and would probably be easier to clean if spray painted? 2) When "We Are Here" was moved to the SOU Library and a Bronze replica crafted by Jack Langford was installed it was a brilliant move to protect the original and display it in a safe spot protected from UV detereoration as well. A similar approach with the fountain could make a lot of sense while also supporting the local artists ... I think a big part of that equation is if there were an appropriate place for the original fountain to be moved to: a) the lawn in front of the Police Department & Meeting Hall on East Main? b) the new park being built on East Main? c) Kestral Park? d) Briscoe? If there isn't a great spot to move it to then the argument to restore only becomes stronger. Could the spot to relocate be combined with the "Marking Ashland Places" project? We only scratched the surface on the depth of this project and there are 4 1/2 districts included in the original concept. Please feel free to contact me if you need any information from when we started the project. 3) With the price tag of either approach being so significant long-term durability in the piece is of major concern. I lean more towards the idea of replacement over restoration but preserving as much character of the original as possible is a top priority I believe. I think the color choices in the bronze sample are excellent ... with the aged "green" being the best followed second by the brown. Thanks again for the opportunity to be a part of this discussion. best Andy Stallman

Replace in bronze and preserve the present fountain in an indoor setting to be determined in a decision that could be well into the future as it might call for a special setting in a remodeled or new city building.

Comments:

My preference for the fountain is a bronze replacement first for its extended life expectancy in this beautiful outdoor setting. Secondly the cast replica option is possibly an opportunity to recreate a significant element of the 1915 replica (and the 1652? original) that was not as close a match in the 1987 restoration as seems possible now. That is to cast the 'column' that separates the two bowls to match that element in the 1915 fountain (and the original in Palazzo Gondi in Florence Italy). I suspect that even in 1987 it would have been financially challenging to recreate in carved marble that column element to include the extensive intricately carved detail of the 1915 replica (and the original). Though the current 1987 piece created on a lathe (assumed) is very pleasing and likely represented a significant cost in 1987 it is distinctly different from the intricate carving of the original and the 1915 replica. At least one historic photo of the Butler-Perozzi fountain shown in place in the park as well as an historic postcard photo taken at the PPIE Italian Pavilion show this column element. Though somewhat blurred those photos indicate that these detailed marble carvings likely match the carved details that show clearly in present day photos and videos of the Gondi fountain in Florence. Casting a truer replica than the current column seems a possibility. The existence of the original in Italy is certain. The processes and parties that might come together to have this become a reality seem at the least to be identifiable. If it has not already taken place hopefully this is worth further exploration. Hopefully this would become a supporting element of the fundraising effort.

My husband and I live in an Ashland historical house that we brought back to life all in keeping with its historical heritage. Replacing the fountain loses it's history we vote to restore the fountain.

Comments:

I believe the park's appeal is greatly effected by this fountain and it serves as a backdrop for weddings. The cost would be minimal if it was restored by concrete and marble paint just like the capital building in Washington DC which is actually made from cast iron and painted with marble paint.
