*LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We acknowledge and honor the aboriginal people on whose ancestral homelands we work—the Ikirakutsum Band of the Shasta Nation, as well as the diverse and vibrant Native communities who make their home here today. We honor the first stewards in the Rogue Valley and the lands we love and depend on: Tribes with ancestral lands in and surrounding the geography of the Ashland Watershed include the original past, present and future indigenous inhabitants of the Shasta, Takelma, and Athabaskan people. We also recognize and acknowledge the Shasta village of K'wakhakha—“Where the Crow lights”—that is now the Ashland City Plaza.

City Manager Lessard, DCM Cotta, Councilors, overworked and highly valued Staff, I want to begin my testimony and political philosophy discussion tonight by asking you to read the latest Conservation Corner in this month's Sneak Preview. For those of you who don't know, the Conservation and Climate Outreach Commission posts these articles monthly, one of many action items that their Commission accomplishes through the year. This month's article is by Anya Moore, one of the most recent members appointed to the Commission and its Ashland High School student representative. Moore states, quite eloquently, and I quote "Ashland needs to model what it means to put the lives of younger generations and of our planet above profit and short term "solutions". Every City Council decision, every City Commission decision, every Ashland School District decision, and every private home and business decision needs to take sustainability into account."

We all need to listen to Moore's words, but that isn't enough. We need to act on them as if our lives and the lives of our posterity depends on it. Because they do. Thank you, Anya. I will do my best.

And now, back to making the vegan sausage for The Common Good.

Estimates vary as to the percentage of GHG emissions from Ashland's transportation sector from 25 to 30 percent of total Ashland emissions. The Climate and Energy Action Plan's goals for reducing GHG emissions will not be met without reducing vehicle miles traveled by increasing the number of miles Ashland Citizens and our visitors walk, bike, roll and take transit for their daily travel in and around our delightful town where people can live their daydreams. Switching from gas powered to electric autos, buses and trucks will do a lot to help us mitigate the effects of climate change and reduce GHGs. Most of us can't afford to buy a Tesla, but there are simple changes that individuals can make with the support of City policy decisions to not only lessen GHG emissions but also help with traffic congestion and the overall livability, walkability and bikeability of Ashland. A report from the Transportation, Climate Policy and Conservation and Climate Outreach Commissions on the Benefits of Speed Reduction* to make it safer to walk, bike or roll combine to decrease miles traveled by car thereby increasing the use of active transportation and cutting emissions all at once. Improving bicycle and pedestrian infrastructure calms streets and makes it safer for everyone to travel through and around our town. Through the updated State Transportation Planning Rule, our own update to the Transportation System Plan (public engagement coming soon, I promise) must incorporate changes to accommodate safe streets for everyone, making our town cleaner, greener and a destination for the changing demographic of visitors knocking at our door. * <https://drive.google.com/file/d/1kmwcUB4CzoAceW4UMZZFu2JzkBVTYPEJ/view?usp=sharing>
